Brief

Winter is coming. Unbowed, Unbent, Unbroken. Words are like wind. The bear and the maiden fair. Never Resting. A feast for crows. Pay the iron price. The wolf and the lion. Never Resting. The North remembers. Bastards are born of passion, aren't they? We don't despise them in Dorne. Bastards are born of passion, aren't they? We don't despise them in Dorne. The rains of castamere. And now his watch is ended. Forgive my manners. I don't see many ladies these days. Lucky for the ladies. A storm of swords. Words are like wind. A forked purple lightning bolt, on black field speckled with four-pointed stars. The night is dark and full of terrors. You know nothing, Jon Snow
